FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Dear York Catholic Family,

I hope this Greensleeves issue finds you happy and healthy. What a year 2020 has been for all of us. Much has happened since you last heard from us in the spring.

The Class of 2020 was able to celebrate its Baccalaureate Mass coupled with the conferral of diplomas in person at Graduation in July. The theme for the day was "resilience." The example this group of young people provided for the rest of the community in the category of resiliency lives on as we opened our doors to in-person learning with a virtual option this fall. Our faculty and staff are in overdrive and their resiliency continues to inspire our students every day in the classroom.

Who would have thought we would find ourselves navigating a school year with masks, contactless temperature screening machines, plexiglass dividers on the cafeteria tables, social distancing signs throughout the building, and virtual distance learning instruction? Yet, now that the 2020-2021 school year is in fall swing, all of those additional items have quickly become routine and the strength of our York Catholic community continues forward.

Speaking of moving forward, we are pleased to announce Phase II of the Grow Today, Impact Tomorrow Capital Campaign. Thanks to the generosity of so many alumni, parents, friends, and community members, we were able to conclude the renovations of Phase I this past summer and look forward to the next phase of our campaign. With almost half of the funding secured, we are excited about future renovations to our middle school, new grandstands at our stadium, and the beautification of our grounds including a rosary walk, refurbished parking lot, and restored sidewalks.

As always, nothing we accomplish is possible without the unending support of the YC family. Thank you for your continued commitment to our students and our community.

Sincerely,

Katie Seufert '96

Anti-racism and Equity Initiatives

Art Full '80, School Board President

As our nation continues to raise awareness regarding the importance of inclusion, diversity, equity, and anti-racism, York Catholic is reaffirming its commitment to these same principles. Over the last four months, we have partnered with Educational Mentoring and Consulting Services (EMCS) to assist in ensuring our students are prepared to serve their global community upon receiving a York Catholic education in an atmosphere of faith, family, and mutual respect.

The responsibility to educate in such an environment lies with every constituent, board member, administrator, faculty member, and staff member, in partnership with parents, who are the foremost educators of their children.

Dr. Lisa Williams, Dr. Sharone Brinkley-Parker, and Ms. Johari Toe of EMCS have led discussions with constituents to create an opportunity to better understand the experiences and challenges of York Catholic students of color, and to guide adults in ongoing dialogues with children about race. EMCS has completed the following sessions with constituents:

- ◆ Two Faculty In-Service sessions
- ◆ Two Alumni Listening sessions
- ◆ One Student Listening session
- ◆ One Parent Listening session
- ◆ One Parent Education seminar
- ◆ Four Leadership Debriefing sessions

As we continue our partnership with EMCS, we look forward to developing strategic objectives on how York Catholic will further anti-racism and equity education and initiatives in our community. Through these ongoing conversations, we believe our students, staff, and community will have an increased level of understanding and work together to further social justice within their global community.

Return to Learn

On March 13, faculty and students went home realizing education was going to look different for a period of time. What we thought would be weeks became months and ultimately took us to the end of the school year. There was fear and apprehension with each step of Virtual Distance Learning, but there was also adaptability, progress, and improved performance every step of the way.

Now, the pandemic that we thought was going to be a fourth quarter anomaly is appearing as though it could continue for a portion or the duration of the 2020-2021 school year. York Catholic places the health and safety of its students and staff above all else. It was with careful consultation with the Pennsylvania Department of Health, Centers for Disease Control, World Health Organization, Diocese of Harrisburg, educational leaders, and many health professionals, that our 30+ page "Return to Learn" plan was created. The Plan details safety parameters and logistical details for staff, students, and families.

In late August, York Catholic was proud to "Return to Learn" in person, on campus, 5 days per week for the 2020-2021 school year. As an alternative to in-person instruction, families were given the option to participate in virtual instruction via "simultaneous teaching." Webcams and tripods were placed in every classroom to allow students who choose (for COVID-related reasons), to participate live in the classroom from home as if they were seated in the physical classroom themselves. Ten percent of our students selected this online distance learning option, while 90% chose on-campus learning.

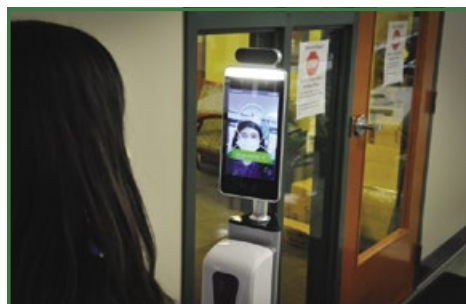

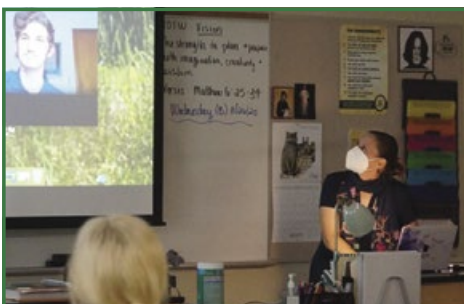

"I am so impressed and relieved at how the teachers are making sure the distance learners feel involved in their classes. On the first day of school, my son answered questions in class, completed a group assignment with his fellow distance learners, and completed a paired assignment with one of the in-person students. I thought that was pretty awesome. Thank you again!"

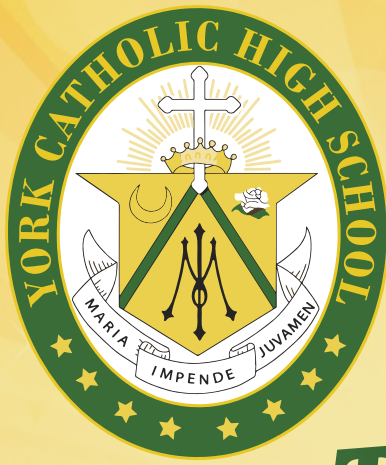

~Missy Fangmeyer

Some of our campus safety measures include the following:

- ◆ Students and staff are temperature screened each morning upon arrival at York Catholic.
- ◆ All students and staff must wear a face covering while on school transportation, in hallways, in all classrooms, and in common areas.
- ◆ Classrooms are organized to maintain a minimum of three (3) feet of distance between students (World Health Organization standard), with six feet of distance preferred (Centers for Disease Control standard).
- ◆ Lunchtime seating capacity was extended outside of the cafeteria to different parts of the building. Plexiglass dividers are on each cafeteria table to create individual safety pods for when students are eating unmasked.
- ◆ Cleaning equipment similar to that which is used in the medical setting is used daily (Total 360 Cleaning System; antistatic backpack sprayers; and antistatic foggers). All air conditioners contain filters or ionizers. Desks in each classroom are wiped down in between each class. Hand sanitizer and wipes are available in each classroom and common areas.

Students and staff have adapted seamlessly to our new way of life at YC. Instead of calling it our "new normal," we prefer to refer to it as our "temporary normal." We will continue to keep health and safety in the forefront as we face the challenges COVID-19 presents and we keep those affected by the virus in our prayers.

IMPACT TOMORROW

We Did it!

Phase I Projects Have Been Completed!

At York Catholic High School we have a renaissance vision for our students to be scholars, athletes, musicians, and people of faith.

It is astounding to think that just two short years ago, in Fall 2018, we were reaching out to share our vision of bringing our 1950's facilities into the 21st century. Every decision made through this campaign has been mission driven; we strive to provide a campus that is welcoming and conducive to learning. It is vitally important we provide these young minds with facilities that enhance their academic and curricular experiences. And we are proud to say that our incredible YC family has enabled us to accomplish all this and more!

None of what York Catholic has achieved, nor what we are able to provide, is possible without the charitable contributions of so many who came before us, as well as those with us now and who will be with us in the future. So, to our incredible alumni, parents, grandparents, community partners, and friends...thank you! It is because of you that York Catholic can continue to provide a quality, Catholic education for the young men and women of York County. And more importantly, it is where they learn self-worth and develop Christian values that will guide them their entire lives.

Welcome New Alumni

While COVID-19 prevented the Class of 2020 from celebrating some of the milestones of senior year, the administration and alumni assured the graduates they would receive proper recognition of the culmination of their high school career. The groundwork for a revised Baccalaureate and Graduation was laid in early spring with adaptations made with the changing guidelines from the CDC and PA Department of Health. Alumni graciously added their financial support to cover the graduates' costs of caps, gowns, and photos. On July 25, our 95 graduates and their parents celebrated a combined Baccalaureate and Graduation at St. Joseph Church in York.

York Catholic Chaplain, Very Reverend Daniel Richards, was celebrant and homilist, with Father Steve Fernandes as con-celebrant. Josephine McKeon welcomed classmates and guests as Salutatorian and Lorraine Schlosser addressed the attendees as Valedictorian.

This class of 2020 leaves York Catholic after serving the community with over 15,000 hours of service. Over 71% of the class earned college scholarships amounting to more than 11 million dollars. Beyond YC, 97% of the students plan to attend college, 1% is enlisting in the military, and 2% are joining the workforce. The following is a list of our graduates and the indication of their future plans. Names noted with an asterisk indicated scholarship recipients. Congratulations to the Class of 2020!

Alumni on the Front Lines of the COVID Battle

Barb (Ember) Full '78

Dr. Ed Shane

Life as we know it changed this past March. The COVID pandemic is like nothing we have ever experienced. We are fighting a highly contagious, invisible enemy with many unknowns. Healthcare workers on the front lines have seen the worst, and at the same time, the heartwarming best, of this battle.

Two alumni who work in our local healthcare system have positively contributed to fighting COVID. Ed Shane '88 is a biomed equipment specialist in the operating room at WellSpan York Hospital. He and his team are responsible for repairing, calibrating, networking, and maintaining heart-lung machines, ventilators, and anesthesia machines. He said they had to "plan for the worst, but hope for the best." Ed retrofitted an anesthesia machine so it could ventilate as well, in case the hospital needed additional ventilators and the Operating Room had to be turned into an Intensive Care Unit. There was also concern in the healthcare world that since ventilated patients often require high doses of intravenous sedatives, that there would be a shortage of these drugs. Because of this, they devised a way to use the vaporizer from the anesthesia machine and incorporate anesthesia gases into the ventilator.

Budgeting also entered in, as Ed and the anesthesia doctors had to decide how much money to spend on which piece of equipment. Thankfully, none of the above workable adjustments were utilized; however, in the process they learned much for the future.

Michelle Medina-Smuck '93 is the Manager of Clinical Operations for the Medical Group at WellSpan. Her team quickly set up ambulatory testing sites in York, Lancaster, Lebanon, Hanover, and Gettysburg, and were fully functional in 3 days. The largest of these was at the York Expo Center where originally they had 8 drive-thru lanes and saw several hundred patients each day. In addition to the testing sites, she was responsible for staffing doctors and nurses at Evaluation and Treatment sites for patients who tested positive, were pending results, or who were suspected of having COVID but needed treatment for something else. Michelle said she was most amazed at the caliber of teamwork her large group of workers displayed. She said, "no matter how chaotic it got, everyone stepped up." Michelle experienced teamwork even within her own family. She had just worked a tiring 12 hour shift but the evening before the Expo Center opened for testing, COVID test kits containing the swabs, bio hazard bags, and patient instructions still needed to be assembled. Her husband, along with her 4 children and her parents, all helped to put together 500 kits for the next day.

Dr. Jim Medina '91, and brother of Michelle Medina-Smuck, is an Emergency Physician in the Emergency Department at Lancaster General Hospital. Working in the ED places you on the frontline of whatever the current healthcare crisis is. Jim is required to wear PPE (personal protective equipment) his entire shift, which includes a mask, eye protection, and a gown. His home routine after working looks very different now than it did in 2019. He laughed while relaying that his 7-year-old twins run away from him like he has the plague when he first walks in the door, after getting undressed in the garage; but they quickly follow-up with smiles on their faces after he showers and they can hug him again.

Dr. Gerry Casey '70 was in the epicenter of the virus in New York City. His varied career of both military (currently a Commander in the US Navy Reserve and member of New York Naval Militia) and emergency medicine makes him uniquely qualified to be a current Medical Officer/Battalion Chief for the Fire Department of New York. His path has been unique in that he entered the Navy at 60 years of age as Trauma Team Leader and was deployed to Afghanistan in 2014.

In his role now, he and other senior Battalion Chiefs are in charge of maintaining the health, fitness, and readiness of over 17,000 fire fighters, EMS, and civilian employees. On a daily basis, he supervises the health clinic in Brooklyn, which sees over 200 patients a day. He also takes care of bio and non-bio exposures, makes follow-up hospital visits, and makes sure there is always a doctor at every 3 alarm fire in the city.

Almost unavoidably, Gerry and his youngest daughter Kelly, currently living at home, both contracted COVID. Kelly lost her sense of taste and smell and Gerry had a fever and was lethargic for about 3 weeks. Both were tested for antibodies and now have them.

As we continue to adapt our lifestyles to living amidst a global pandemic, health and safety continue to be a top priority over convenience. With these York Catholic alumni at the helm, we know their talent and leadership, along with their tremendous commitment to keeping their patients and fellow workers safe will be a guiding and life-saving force in the months ahead.

Dr. Gerry Casey (right)

A Prayer for Persons Suffering from the Coronavirus

You shall not fear the terror of the night nor the arrow that flies by day, nor the pestilence that roams in darkness,
nor the plague that ravages at noon.
Merciful God, hear our fervent prayer for all who suffer from the coronavirus.
May those who are infected receive the proper treatment and the comfort of your healing presence.
May their caregivers, families and neighbors be shielded from the onslaught of the virus.

Give solace to those who grieve the loss of loved ones.
Protect and guide those who strive to find a cure,
that their work may conquer the disease
and restore communities to wholeness and health.
Help us to rise above fear.
We ask all this through the intercession of Our Lady, the Mystical Rose,
and in the name of your Son, Jesus, and the Holy Spirit,
now and forever.
Amen.

Students Continue Service Amid a Pandemic

York Catholic students put their hearts and hands to work to continue their service to the community even during the COVID-19 pandemic. Here are just some examples of our student outreach:

Paige Miller '20 volunteered at the Mason-Dixon Community Services Food Bank, while Caroline Salko '22 volunteered to stock groceries at the Southern York County Food Pantry. Kyle Scott '25 volunteered with the Hereford Food Bank, and Gavin Bonner '21 volunteered at the Catholic Harvest Food Pantry and the local SPCA.

The Coley family, Ethan '25, Hannah '23, and Gabby '20, turned their dining room table into an assembly line to sew masks. Sophie Fraser '23, along with her mother and sister, made over 100 masks to donate to a local hospital. Makenzi Michael '23 made masks with her aunt and baked food for hospital workers. Hannah Stover '24 sewed buttons on more than 100 headbands to be donated to healthcare workers. The strings of their masks could then be attached to the buttons to help take the pressure off of sore ears.

Ashlyn O'Neill '21 is working on her Girl Scout Gold Award and created a program of assistance for the elderly during the pandemic.

Nick Nelson-Moir '23 helped prepare health supply bags for YC classrooms.

Laura Laux '21

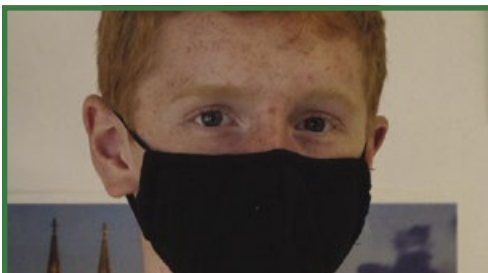

The Spencer Kubala ('12) Memorial Scholarship was awarded to Laura Laux '21, in recognition of a student entering his/her senior year who goes "above and beyond" to care about fellow YC students and to brighten our YC community. This scholarship was established by Spencer's family in his memory and in recognition of his incredible kindness and compassion. Spencer was always ready to listen, to care, to laugh, and to give his time, no matter what else was going on in his day. At York Catholic, Spencer would always be sure no one sat alone at lunch, or felt isolated. His greatest gift to so many was his caring heart.

Their purpose is to promote the University's values of scholarship, community involvement, and spiritual growth. The Notre Dame Club of Harrisburg recognizes scholarship by presenting a Book Award annually to an outstanding student in each of the Catholic high schools in York, Lancaster, and Harrisburg. The book, entitled "A Letter to my Freshman Self" is accompanied by a $250 check made out to the student.

Homecoming 2020

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, we weren't able to enjoy some of our usual Homecoming activities in person this year. Our dance, parade, school tours, alumni social, and alumni band and cheerleader nights were canceled, but some events were able to be held safely. Our Student Council planned dress-down days for our students and staff to enjoy with themes like Movie Monday, Team Tuesday, and Throwback Thursday. Student Council hosted a Virtual Pep Rally where the Homecoming Court, as well as the King & Queen, were announced. Congratulations Christian Saidel and Keely Brennan! Our football team defeated Bermudian Springs at the Homecoming game that was livestreamed on our new stadium YouTube channel!

Recognizing Teacher Dedication

Since March, teachers around the world have been asked to restructure their profession to adapt to the new needs of students in a virtual environment and in a modified classroom setting. An appreciation of this challenging pivot, while maintaining the important connection between teacher and learner, has not been lost on our students.

York Catholic Student Ambassadors are the face of YC. They represent our school when meeting new families and potential donors. They are well-spoken, positive, responsible, school spirited, knowledgeable about YC, personable, and welcoming. They serve as tour guides, hosts to visiting students shadowing for the day, and mentors to new students. They also visit our future students in our partner schools and assist with York Catholic events. As part of the application process to be selected as a Student Ambassador, students are asked "What does York Catholic mean to you? What makes it so special?" The common theme throughout most of their answers this year was the impact of their teachers. Here are some of their responses:

"What makes it so special is the caring faculty and kind students. The teachers are always willing to help students. They do not only teach us the curriculum of their subject field, but they also go out of their way by teaching us important facts and life skills. They do this because they care. Their first priority is the students and making sure the students understand the material. If a student has trouble a teacher will willingly go out of his way to spend extra time with the student. The teachers are flexible. YC has made me a better person and keeps me grounded."

"Personally, York Catholic is a challenging educational experience accompanied by a strong support system. The teachers and staff truly make York Catholic special. Although the students are pretty fantastic, the passion and dedication of the teaching staff makes York Catholic unique. The teachers have helped me discover my talents and use them effectively in the classroom. Although many of the students do not see it, the teachers put countless hours into their work. Whether it is grading papers or revamping lesson plans, they take their personal time to ensure each student leaves the classroom with confidence. At York Catholic, we are not just numbers of students to the teachers. We are each unique individuals who our teachers strive to accommodate."

"All the teachers have helped me so much with my dyslexia and making sure I'm on track with all my assignments and notes. This is a place where the students are put first especially when help is needed. Being here has changed my life because without the help here with my learning disability I don't think I would have gotten this far."

York Catholic is blessed to have conscientious students who value the excellent education they are receiving from their dedicated teachers who are not just instructing in their areas of expertise, but also guiding lives and shaping the future.

We are proud of our entire faculty and staff who continue to have such a positive impact on our students. In particular, we would like to recognize two York Catholic teachers who were recently honored at the Diocese of Harrisburg's Education Conference for their outstanding dedication to students. Ms. Cecelia Mezza was the recipient of the Golden Apple Award that acknowledges an educator's professional excellence, leadership, commitment to Catholic values, and devotion to teaching in Catholic schools. Mrs. Tracey Nagley was recognized for 20 years of service at York Catholic and the former St. Patrick's Catholic School (now Holy Trinity Catholic School). Congratulations and thank you!

Invest in York Catholic

You can benefit from tax breaks while helping York Catholic at the same time. Check with your tax consultant for specifics according to your needs.

SPE - Transform your Taxes into Tuition Scholarships

Do you pay more than $3,500 in state income taxes each year? If so, you can donate 100% of your state income tax liability to YC through the SPE (Special Purpose Entity) program to benefit our Tuition Assistance efforts.

For example, if your state income tax liability is $4,000, you can donate up to $4,000. You will receive a 90% credit ($3,600) in the form of a check from the state in the following year. In addition, you'll be able to deduct the remaining 10% ($400) on your federal income tax return. To redirect your state income tax liability, complete a Joinder Agreement (form can be found online at www.yorkcatholic.org/donate) and return it to YC. It's that easy!

Donating to YC Through a QCD

If you are age 72 or older, IRS rules require you to take required minimum distributions (RMDs) each year from your tax-deferred retirement accounts (IRAs, 401(k)s, 403(b)s, 457(b)s, inherited IRA plans, etc.). If you take the RMD as income, it will count as taxable income. This additional taxable income may push you into a higher tax bracket and may also reduce your eligibility for certain tax credits and deductions. To eliminate or reduce the impact of RMD income, instead consider making a qualified charitable distribution (QCD) to York Catholic!

Class of 1970

For the safety of all our fellow classmates the committee for the YC Class of '70's 50th reunion celebration has decided to postpone our reunion. In accordance with the guidelines set by Governor Wolf we deem this the best possible course for the safety of all of us. Our new date is May 8, 2021, at The Country Club of York. If you have any questions please contact Joan (Galloway) Bainbridge at 717-764-8948 or bnbgrge@comcast.net or George Dotzel at 717-891-4462 or gdotzel@dotzelcpa.com.

Class of 1980

After much deliberation and discussion, we have decided the most feasible thing to do is to postpone our 40th reunion until a later date. There have been many options that have been put forth and have been considered, however, Pennsylvania is a state that follows the governor's orders which have been changing almost on a daily basis. The venue we had picked is temporarily closed. We really appreciate everyone's help and diligence in trying to find other classmates and we expect to pick right back up with all of the information we have acquired. Please consider assisting when we start planning or re-planning our reunion. Anyone who has sent money will be contacted and refunded. Thank you for understanding and if you have any concerns, questions, or comments please reach out to Theresa or Jackie.

Thomas Foster '57 writes, "I'm long ago retired, yet my memories of YCHS are vivid and fond ones. Not a day goes by that I don't recall some event at school on West King Street...whether it was chemistry class with Sister Miriam Regina (Mim) or Latin with Sister Dolores. These women and others were devoted to their calling and to we students. We just did not always 'get it.' But later, as life progressed, I did 'get it' and I graduated from a fine Jesuit university, the University of San Francisco. I am and was truly blessed."

Mary (Brickner) Heltzel '76

Mary (Brickner) Heltzel '76 was named to Forbes' America's Top Women Wealth Advisors list for 2020. Mrs. Collare Leaves Her Mark

Heather Hoffman '91

Miss McNeil – Mrs. Collare – Deb – Debbie – regardless of how you addressed her, she left her mark on you. At York Catholic, she was a teacher, moderator, surrogate mother, mentor, and friend. We lost this special lady this summer, but we will never forget the impact she had on our lives. Instead of being sad she is no longer with us, let's celebrate her!

Before becoming Mrs. Collare, Miss McNeil taught at St. Joseph Elementary School in Dallastown. She became one of the original Brady Bunch when she moved to York Catholic in 1992 with the junior high to the Brady Science Hall classrooms. She carried her skills of not only teaching grammar, but religion, math, science, and social studies as well. Along with the mysterious Oscar and Harriett, she was a diagramming guru and, while many students despised diagrams, they later realized the benefits when writing essays. She was also an expert at math and would often pop in my classroom and race students at the board, correctly beating them with her old school math skills. She loved York Catholic and her Catholic faith and made sure her students knew their Beatitudes, Alma Mater, and how to pray the rosary. She was tough. She taught her students that a frigid cold classroom built character. You only used a non-blue pen or forgot your name on a paper once in her class. She was also caring. She was always available for morning and after school help. Here were some of the social media comments that celebrated her memory:

Mrs. Deb (McNeil) Collare '71

- ◆ I can diagram a sentence like nobody's business thanks to one of the best teachers I had at YC. To this day I still benefit from her teachings... My favorite teacher and my inspiration to teach. She was wonderful with a great sense of humor.
- ◆ I have tremendous respect for her and her teaching style. Didn't realize it at the time but it made me a better person today. Fantastic teacher! Controlled the classroom and made her lessons stick. I learned so much from her English class.
- ◆ Deb was an outstanding teacher. She was such a good, caring individual. She beat proper grammar into my head which turned out to benefit me for years to come. She pushed me to reach outside my comfort zone when I joined the Optimist Speech Club and for that I will always be grateful.
- ◆ She was an amazing woman, role model, and to this day one of my favorite teachers. She was a true gem and pillar in building the Junior High at York Catholic. Her impact will continue in anyone who had the privilege of being one of her students. #BradyBunchOG
- ◆ Our YC students were lucky to have her. We quote her often in our home. Our son was asked to write the reports for his group at his internship last summer since they appreciated his good writing. He told them a lot had to do to with his high school English teacher (and we knew he meant Mrs. Collare). We teasingly call our daughter "Mrs. Collare" when she corrects our grammar! We appreciated Mrs. Collare's firmness and dedication while lighting a fire under students for good writing.

Mrs. Collare impacted students outside the classroom as well. She encouraged her students to enter the Optimist Speech contest and coached them to be better public speakers. Anyone who served on junior high student council knew her dedication to YC and parliamentary procedure. She taught these leaders how to successfully run a meeting, plan an event, and give back to the community. You could even catch her grooving to the beat at a junior high dance. She taught her students about hard work and built up their confidence while directing the Junior High One Act Plays. And she was never a fair weather fan! There were a few torrential downpours where Deb and I were the only fans at the football game. She even helped me hum the band songs for the cheerleaders.

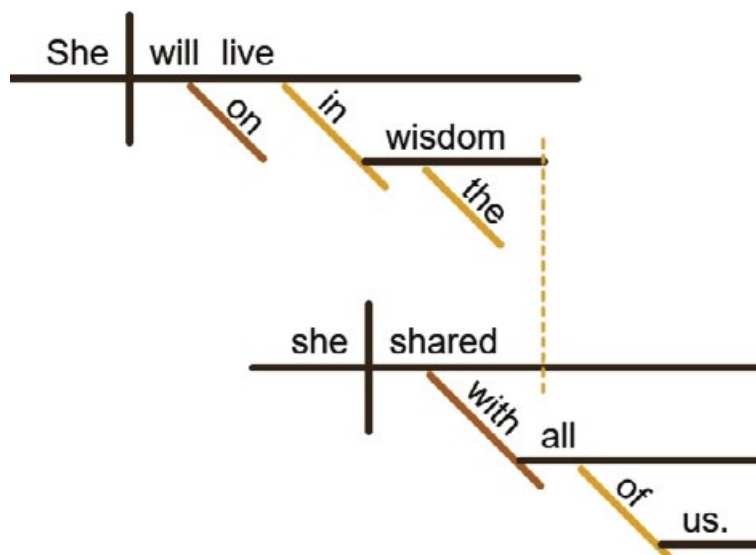

I had the pleasure of learning from the best as well. Deb was my mentor my first year at YC. When I learned that Muriel McNeil's daughter was going to be my mentor, I have to admit I was a little nervous. For those of you who were taught by Mrs. Muriel McNeil at St. Joseph Elementary School in York, you know why I was nervous. But I had nothing to worry about. Deb kept me on schedule and fostered my love for my profession. She empowered me to become a great teacher. And she repeatedly tried to break me of the habit of asking "how come" instead of "why."

Debbie was thorough, disciplined, and organized. She was tough, but always kind. She had a heart of gold! She was vivacious, with a silly side that she didn't always show her students. I remember her dying her hair green, skipping down the hall, and clicking her heels like a leprechaun. She had a wicked sense of humor and always went all out on spirit days. She was one of a kind!

In 2009, The Diocese of Harrisburg awarded Deb The Frederick F. Noel Distinguished Educator Award. This award honors a distinguished Catholic educator who has served at a Catholic school for 10+ years, has been nominated by a series of peers, students, and parents and has contributed significantly to the promotion of Christian values in the school. This award embodies all that was Debbie McNeil Collare. She sometimes scared us. She loved us fiercely. She definitely made us better people. She will live on in the wisdom she shared with all of us!

Deb Collare is honored by the Diocese of Harrisburg
